Peggy Puts Blame On Mother-In-Law

Actress, Defending Marriage, Says Mrs. Montgomery Stole Jack's Love.

ELKTON, Md., June 8.—"His mother stole his love away from me," cried pretty Peggy U'Dell in the Cecil County Court here today, testifying in an effort to prevent the annulment of her marriage to John W. Montgomery, of Bellefonte, Pa.

"Jack swore that he loved me, and I swore that I loved him. I was true to him, and he was false," she exclaimed dramatically.

"It was his mother—it was all his mother's fault that I lost his love," she continued. "Ever since he talked to his mother after our marriage he has avoided me and lied. He said he was playing opposite Elaine Mammerstein. He said he was her leading man—I call it her mis-leading man."

The former Follies chorus girl spent this morning on the witness stand, first telling her story at great length and then withstanding a scathing cross-examination at the hands of Omar Cruthers, attorney for the plaintiff.

Mr. Cuthers spent much of his time trying to break down an assertion the girl had made in her direct testimony that she had not known her husband drank, and would not have married him had she known it.

The attorney for the plaintiff produced a letter and asked her to identify it, which she did as one she had received from Montgomery three days before her wedding.

Mr. Cuthers then read this excerpt: "After my liquid refreshment was gone and I came to, I went home."

There was a dramatic pause after the passage had been read.

"How do you account for your lack of knowledge of Mr. Montgomery's inclinations, in view of this letter received but three days before the wedding?" asked the attorney.

"I don't object to a gentleman taking a drink," said the girl, "if he doesn't get drunk."

"Well, I could not have understood it," answered Peggy.

Peggy was dressed in a black gown, simply made, and wore no hat over her marcelled tresses. Her dress was very short, indeed, and the jury and spectators craned their necks as she stood to be sworn as a witness. The moment she sat down she burst into tears.

Peggy denied everything. To begin with she told of having met Montgomery Friday, the 13th, and of having married him thirteen days later.

Peggy had been preceded on the stand by James W. Allister, marriage clerk at Elkton, and McAllister had given an interesting description of the scene when the couple applied to him for a marriage license. McAllister could not say they were drunk, he said, but they certainly had been drinking. When Jack was asked to sign the book, said McAllister, he turned to Peggy and asked:

"What's your name?"

Peggy had replied, said McAllister, "Why, you ought to know." Then Jack had answered: "I'm not so sure I do," according to this witness.

That testimony apparently upset Peggy. She insisted that no such incident had occurred. The clerk had asked her personally for her name she testified, and she had told him.

"There was no drinking in that party, whatsoever; none at all," she insisted. "I saw no liquor anywhere."

Many Rumors On Wage Cut

Railway Telegraphers May Not Be Included In Third Reduction Order.

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 9.—Railroad telegraphers will probably not be included in the third wage reduction order of the railroad labor board, according to rumors today of the contemplated slash from railroad payrolls. Telegraphers number approximately $1,000. Although board members made no direct statement on the next cut, rumor persisted in predicting a smaller cut for the clerks' force than those affecting shopmen.

OFFICER WAS ASLEEP WHEN RUDD ESCAPED

It was learned last night that Guy Rudd, nineteen-year-old youth, who jumped from the Richmond train Wednesday morning while he was being taken to Richmond by Officer Arch Morgan accomplished the deed while the officer was asleep and that he did not ask the officer for a drink of water and take advantage of this liberty to jump out of the window.

Two of the train crew saw the boy make his desperate leap out of the window of the train, speeding at the rate of 35 miles an hour. They immediately went to find the officer and when they arrived at the seat where the officer and his prisoner had been sitting they found Morgan asleep. They woke him up and told him of the escape.

It seems that Morgan went on to Richmond and returned on the Wednesday night train.

The train crew state that the escape was made somewhere in the vicinity of Clover and they are of the opinion that the boy was badly injured by his leap.

So far as is known no effort was made to go back and look for the boy after the leap from the train.

Henry County To Have Big Fair

Secretary H. B. Watkins of the Danville Fair Association has just returned from Martinsville, where he attended a conference of the directors and officials of the Henry county Fair who are making preparations for holding a big agricultural fair October 17, 18, 19, and 20th, the week following the Danville Fair.

Backed by the local Kiwanis club, who are credited with "putting over" most of the movements in that community for the past two years, the Henry county Fair gives promise of being a pronounced success. The directors and officials are busy arranging for holding their County Fair. Mr. Watkins as president of the Associated Fairs of Virginia is interested in the success of the Henry County Fair, as, in his opinion, the county fairs belonging to that organization now operating in this state are doing splendid work in developing the agricultural interests of their respective communities. The citizens of Martinsville through the Kiwanis club, the leading farmers of Henry county, the Henry County Bulletin, the County Farm and Home Demonstration Agents are co-operating in the building of their fair. They have secured centrally located and ample grounds, a fine exhibition building, and are handsomely financed.

Secretary Watkins who attended the banquet given by the Kiwanis to the educators of Martinsville pronounces it one of the most delightful occasions he ever attended, and he is quite "chesty" over having won the prize offered of $5 in gold for the best story at the banquet. "Uncle" Henry says that the story he told was about Thackeray.

Loyal Street Is Now Being Paved

The Hudson Road Construction company has started work smooth-paving Loyal street, one of the principal city thoroughfares included in the year's program. City Engineer R. K. Linville reports that the work should be completed within four or five days. The work has been started in the middle of the street opposite R. E. Lee school and the men are working towards Five Forks. This is done to keep open as long as possible the block bounded by South Ridge and Linn street. Just as soon as the street has been paved to Five Forks the workmen will turn the other way and finish the job.

This improvement promises to have marked effect since it will materially lessen traffic on Main street. Motorists at present, rather than make the journey up and down Loyal street to the city on the rough cobbles, follow the smooth surface of Jefferson to Main and by the route into the business part of the city. When finished people living in that heavily built up residential section beyond Five Forks will have a short cut into the city without having to touch Main street.

Mr. Linville reported this morning that the River road improvement has been completed and that the concrete bridge is now open for traffic. As soon as Loyal street is finished work will be resumed on Linn street.

Suspected Case Of Typhoid Fever

Dr. Garnett, city health officer, today reported that a little child on Paxton street is ill with what now appears to be typhoid fever although the case has not been definitely diagnosed as such. From all present indications the child has the malady which was prevalent just a year ago, but the city health officer would not say definitely that it is typhoid. A few more days will show whether or not the present fears are justified. Dr. Garnett is securing the personal history of the case and has learned that if typhoid, the case developed in the city as the patient had not recently been out of town.

Gunboat Believed Drowning Victims

VLADIVOSTOK, June 8.—Eight enlisted men from the United States gunboat New Orleans are believed to have been drownd in a sailing mishap at Amurday, Siberia. There has been no trace of the men since Sunday.

The missing are Coppersmith Allen, Carpenter's Mate William Wolf, Coxswain Harry Swanson, Boatswan's Mate Ferdinand Scheschi, Gunner's Mate Frank Silva, Seaman Leon Neodd, Robert Free and ——— Brown.

ERUPTION OF KILAUEA PREDICTED

Eruption of Kilauea, dread volcano of Hawaii, is predicted by Prof. T. A. Jagger, noted geonomist, who has spent years studying the crater. He says the outbreak may come at any moment, and probably will rival or even surpass the disastrous eruption of 1840 in which whole villages were wiped out with great loss of life. Picture shows molten lava seething in Kilauea crater, and (inset) Professor Jagger.

Two Games Here This Afternoon; New Pitcher Here

Danville will play a double-header here today with Durham, the first game starting at 2.45. The same teams will lock up in another double-header on Saturday. Sutler and Green will probably hurl for the Abbottites this afternoon.

Pitcher Twombly, of Minneapolis, reported here yesterday and will be given a try-out by Manager Abbott in the next few days. Twombly was at one time with the St. Louis Americans and made a good showing. He has also showed up well at Minneapolis.

Worth is expected back any day. It is probable that he will be placed at his old position, first base, and McMillan send to the field.

Robert R. Murray Gives Resignation

Robert R. Murray for the last two years executive secretary of the Young Men's Business Club, has tendered his resignation to the executive committee to take effect July 1st. The committee will meet at four o'clock this afternoon to act on the letter. Mr. Murray said this morning that he had decided to go into business and that his mind was definitely made up on the matter. He said that he proposed to go into business with R. E. Bowmann, of San Antonio, who has been in Danville for several months. They propose to open together an automobile accessory store and automobile service on lower Main street in property recently bought by E. C. and K. C. Arey. Mr. Murray has been secretary of the Y. M. B. C. for the past two years during which time, the records of the institution show a doubling of the membership together with numerous undertakings brought to a successful conclusion.

City Council To Meet At 8 Tonight

The city council will hold its meeting tonight at eight o'clock in the council chamber. The finance committee held a meeting yesterday and at that time heard unfolded a proposal by H. C. Ficklen who is desirous of developing Lady Asor street which he named in her honor. Mr. Ficklen wants gas, water and sewer mains laid on the street which forms a junction with West Main street almost opposite Mount Vernon avenue. His proposal is to make available to the city the money necessary to do the work, about $2,300 in all, the city to repay the amount just as soon as six residents have been built on the street.

Price of Gasoline Being Investigated

Federal Agents Visit Boston to Find Reason for Recent Increases Announced.

BOSTON, June 8.—Operatives of the Department of Justice, it was learned today, are investigating in Boston the recent unexplained advances in the prices of gasoline. They have invited the Boston Chamber of Commerce and various business houses to co-operate with them by furnishing facts bearing upon the situation, especially such as may show illegal acts on the part of refiners and distributors.

It was announced recently by Harry M. Daugherty, Attorney-General of the United States, that he intended to find out the reason for the extraordinary rise in the prices of gasoline. The presumption is that the agents now in Boston are working on lines directly laid down by Mr. Daugherty.

A resolution for investigation of the increased cost of gasoline, introduced by Sen. John F. Shea, of the Second Hampton District, has been passed by both branches of the General Court and awaits the signature of Governor Cox.

Unanimous protest against the high cost of gasoline was made at a recent meeting of the Boston Automobile Dealers Association, and it was decided to take up with the Boston Chamber of Commerce the question of obtaining an investigation by state and federal authorities. Recent increases of 3 cents a gallon are held by dealers to be unwarranted, in view of the large surplus stock of gasoline on hand in the United States according to government reports.

An investigation into the increased retail cost of gasoline also is being made by the Massachusetts State Chamber of Commerce, at the request of the Worchester Chamber of Commerce. It has been learned in this investigation that the reserve stock of gasoline in the United States is steadily increasing, and that this reserve is larger now than it was a year ago.

Gasoline, it has been found, is higher in Massachusetts than in most other states from which information has been secured. Boston retail price is 29 cents a gallon. Only one other place reporting, Greensboro, N. C., pays more, the retail price there being 32 cents and the wholesale price 28 cents a gallon.

In Ohio, the retail price is 25 cents a gallon. Only in Delaware in the retail price as high as in Boston, and there the 29 cents commonly charged is sometimes cut to 27 or 28 cents. The wholesale price is 26 cents.

According to old interests, freight rates are chiefly responsible for the varying prices of gasoline throughout the country. Officers of the Massachusetts State Chamber say that crude oil can easily be shipped by water and refined at Fall River or Everett, from the Mexican fields, at low cost.

Lightning Takes One

MOBILE, Ala., June 8.—Ruth Chambliss, eight, daughter of R. A. Chambliss, was instantly killed by lightning at Ovett, Miss., this afternoon, according to news received here.

The girl and her infant brother were playing a few feet apart. The boy was untouched by the bolt.

—Little Ida Flynn, who was operated upon Wednesday at the General Hospital for appendicitis is doing nicely.

Toddler Falls 30 Feet From Window

Nicholas Robanus, a 16 months-old child, fell through a window in the parental home this morning at about 11 o'clock and dropped fully thirty feet to the ground below. The shock of the fall was broken by some shrubbery and the only injury sustained was a slight scratch on the leg. The accident happened in the apartment opposite the Patton street fire station, the child playing by a screened open window on the second floor. Suddenly the screen gave way and the infant, just able to walk, fell through headforemost. Mrs. oJhn Malcum, in the lower apartment, hearing the child's sister scream, ran around to the side of the house and found the baby motionless and stunned, lying where he had fallen among some grass and weeds. A doctor was hastily sent for and within five minutes was on the spot. In about ten minutes' time the child's color came back and he came to his senses. The physician, Dr. Miles, could find no sign of broken bones or other injury but advised the parents to keep the child perfectly quiet until this evening when he planned a more careful examination. Early this afternoon no serious symptoms had manifested themselves.

U. S. Equipment Is Being Sent Back

Small arms and other military equipment which was sent by the War Department to the Military Institute when it opened under the auspices of Col. R. A. Burton are being shipped back to Washington today, it was learned. The value of this property is estimated at between three and four thousand dollars and, it is claimed, is a necessary step in the transfer of ownership of the college. It will now be necessary for Col. Kemper, new commandant of the college to make a requisition for the equipment as soon as the college opens. One of the requirements is that there shall be 100 students at the college before government property is loaned, but there is little doubt that fully this number will have been enrolled by the time the school re-opens under new auspices in September. Under the regulations of the War Department, it appears, the property lent to Col. Burton by the government cannot be merely transferred to the incoming commandant, but must first be shipped back to Washington and a new requisition made.

Will Close D. M. I. Drive This Evening

Committees have been out for the past two days winding up the Danville Institute campaign and have met with good results. Secretary H. B. New York Attorney Here In Dixon Case

$2,000,000 Check For Police Gains Donor Suite In Bellevue

NEW YORK, June 8.—After Dennis Shea, 48, who gave his address as 104th street and the Boulevard, Rockaway Beach, had offered to endow the police department with $2,000,000 yesterday afternoon, he was committed by Chief City Magistrate McAdoo to Bellevue hospital for ten days' observation in the psychopathic ward.

Mr. Shea called at the office of Special Deputy Police Commissioner Simon and told him that, having read of a patrolman injured in the performance of his duty, he was inspired to do something to aid the police.

The caller produced a check-book and wrote a check for $2,000,000, payable to "the New York Police Department." The money, according to the check, was to be paid "ten days after date" bythe Pacific Bank, through the American Consul at Toronto, Canada. The check was on the Royal Bank of Canada, Toronto.

Commissioner Simon took the check, thanked Shea and called Detectives Cotter and O'Brien, who invited the donor for an automobile ride. After a stop at Magistrate McAdoo's chambers, the party proceeded to Bellevue for "tea."

Shea said he, his father and a brother had once been in the woollen business at Broome and Crosby streets. This was corroborated.

Further Developments in Girl's Death Are Expected by Danville Attorney Working On Case.

David Leavenworth, an attorney of New York, is in Danville, for a conference with Harry Berman, and J. M. Terrell, in connection with the mysterious death in New York of Mabel Dixon early in January, when she was found drugged and later died at a hospital. New developments in the case are expected as the result of the New York attorney's visit here.

It was learned this morning that two letters have been found which were written to Dixie Dixon from a point in Ohio two days prior to her death. The letter asked the girl to meet the writer in New York. The letter was signed "Margaret" but an investigation has failed to identify or locate such a person, and it is believed that there is no such person. It was stated this morning by Attorney Berman that he and his associate lawyers had every reason to believe that the letter was concocted by R. M. Bliss, husband of Dixie Dixon, who has not yet been located, despite every effort to find him. It will be remembered that the girl who was hre on a visit to her parents a short time before her death, told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Terrell, that she was planning to meet a friend in New York whom she referred to as Margaret.

Mabel Dixon was found drugged late one night early in January and taken to a hospital where she later died without shedding any light on the case. Martin Ryan, the chauffeur of the machine in which she was riding, was held and was freed at a preliminary trial. Mr. and Mrs. Terrell here, were not satisfied with the investigation which failed to enlighten them or to clear the mystery in any way. They secured the Danville attorney and the investigation was reopened. During the time it was said that the girl who was here on a visit an international ring of drug smugglers but had later become disconnected with them. A party of them were arrested and it is believed that the band blamed the girl for "turning them up" and that her death was through revenge and to get her out of the way lest she hinder their operations further. Other phases of the case have been related but there has been nothing definite to warrant any action.

The Danville attorney together with New York lawyers and officials, have been conducting an investigation since that time and have been working on every possible theory.

It was stated this morning that other phases of the case will probably be brought out in a few days.

Dead Man Believed To Be From Danville

Private information was received here today from Adda, Louisiana stating that the dead body of a man believed to be from this city was found there a few days ago. On his person were papers indicating that he was J. E. Morgan, Danville, Va. He succumbed quite suddenly and the coroner's inquest showed that heart failure had probably caused his death. The man is described as having a dark complexion aged about 38 or 40 weighing 140 pounds height about five feet eight inches. He was a carpenter by trade and the identification was made chiefly through a diary found in his pocket. He was a stranger in Adda having been there for only two or three days before being overcome.

The body was never claimed and was buried there. The local directory lists no person by that name.

Contract Is Let For S. S. Rooms

The contract for the building of the new Sunday school quarters for Main Street Methodist church has been let to H. A. SHOCKING STORY OF DEATH AND CANNIBALISM IN RUSSIA

LONDON June 8.—(By the Associated Press)—A shocking story of despair death and cannibalism in Russia was narrated to The Associated Press today by William Shaforth, son of former Governor Shaforth of Colorado who has arrived in London after a year's work with the American relief administration in the Russian famine regions

The desperate people are eating human beings diseased horses, dogs and rats he said Cemeteries are being dug up and long-buried bodies snatched as food In their hunger madness the population are stealing bodies from morgues and hospitals to eat as food

Mr Shaforth, who had charge of 20,000 Russians working for the relief administration in Samara district, is lean and emaciated after his arduous work among the starving dying and shelterless Russians But he gave ample proof that the famine sufferers did not try to seize him for culinary purposes, as had been reported while he was in Russia He declared, however, that a Russian member of the American relief administration who died of typhus was disinterred at night and eaten by the crazed inhabitants This gave rise to the report that Mr Shafroth had been devoured

In some respects the young American's narrative is unequalled, even by the tragic pictures in Daniel Defoe's journal of the plague year

"I know one instance," said Shafroth, "where a distracted mother of five children killed the youngest in order to appease the pangs of the rest of her youngsters, but the oldest, a boy cried bitterly when he saw his mother sever his little brother's head and place the body in a pot He refused to eat the flesh."

In spite of these lamentable conditions in isolated districts, Mr Shafroth said the general situation throughout Russia has been greatly ameliorated as a result of the charity enterprise of the American people The health, morale and spirit of the population were much better, he said, since the American relief administration arrived ten months ago

America is a holy name in Russia and Americans are regarded as superbeings," said Mr Shafroth "People fall on their knees and kiss the earth upon the relief workers walk The United States can have a solemn feeling of pride in saving the Russian race from extinction."

Mr Shafroth said he believed the soviet government with all its faults, had come to stay.

DOUBLE-HEADER TODAY

Two double-headers will be played here today and tomorrow with the Durham team, both games scheduled to start at 2:45. The Durham team yesterday in its home town quit the field in the eighth inning when Manager Gootch called his players off the field on account of a decision of Umpires Daugherty and O'Keefe. As the rule is plain as to an infield fly, it would appear that the action of the Durham team was hasty, not to say previous.

Green and Stuteler are expected to hurl for Danville today.

"SMILIN' THROUGH" GIVES NORMA BIG OPPORTUNITY

Norma Talmadge's latest First National starring vehicle, Smilin' Through," is coming to the Broadway Theatre on Monday for an engagement of two days

Advance reports state that this is the most ambitious production yet made by Norma Talmadge It is an adaption of Alen Langdon Martin's stage hit of the same name in which Jane Cowl appeared on the speaking stage

Appearing opposite Miss Tamadge are two leading men Wyndham Standing and Harrison Ford and a splendid supporting case, including Alec B. Francis Glenn Hunter, Grace Griswold Miriam Battista and Eugene Lockhart

The production deals with the romance of beautiful younk Kathleen, who is left in the charge of John Carteret following the deat hof her Aunt Monyeen Monveen was fatally wounded by a jealous suitor on the day of her wedding to Carteret When Carteret learns that Kathleen is in love with the son of the man who killed his bride he interrupts the romance of the young people and the absorbing plot gathers dramatic momentum

Norma, ever a great emotional actress is said to have taken advantage of the great dramatic opportunity presented her. R&Bit

CHARTER FOR MILLS

CHATTANOOGA Tenn June 8—A charter for the Dixie Spinning Mills which it was announced will [illegible] capitalized at $1,000,000 was applied for here today. A large plant will be built, it was announced

STOCK IS SOLD FOR WAREHOUSE

REIDSVILLE, June 8—The canvassing committees appointed to solicit subscriptions to the capital stock of the Reidsville Warehouse Company (cooperative marketing warehouse) scattered over the town Tuesday morning and in less than two hours had signed up within a few [illegible] the necessary amount of stock The necessary number to round out the minimum amount of $25,000 was secured by Tuesday night

The business men of Reidsville as a whole readily subscribed to the stock and showed great interest in the enterprise, though a few firms for one reason or another declined to sign on the dotted line With one exception no large blocks were taken by any single firm Efforts were made by the soliciting committees to distribute the stock as widely as possible.

As stated recently, the old Piedmont warehouse and lot fronting on two streets West Market and North Scales—have been purchased from [illegible] Storage Warehouse company

The plan is to build a brick warehouse 128x235 feet fronting on North Scales street which will cost about $40,000, including cost of the lot. It was decided to sell not less than $25,000 worth of stock and as much more as could be disposed of up to the $40,000 required to pay for the lot and new warehouse Whatever amount is lacking from the sale of stock will be provided by a bond issue However, the building committee prefers to raise the entire amount by sale of stock so that an issue of bonds will be unnecessary. So the subscription lists will remain open for some time to give those who have not subscribed an opportunity to secure some of this very desirable stock

The warehouses as we have stated, will be leased to the Tri-State Tobacco Growers Cooperative Marketing Association for five years for 6 per cent per annum on the cost of the property and in addition the lessees will pay all taxes, insurance and upkeep on the property [illegible] practically a guaranteed 6 per cent. stock and will participate in any enhancement there may and likely will be in the value of the property at the end of the five-year period.

The owners of the old warehouse and lot accepted a very reasonable price for the property and would sell at the price agreed upon only on conditions that it was to be used for a warehouse for handling tobacco by the Cooperative Association At present the property is bring in over 7 per cent per annum in rentals on the old warehouse

The location is ideal for a tobacco receiving plant. A side track runs in front of the property on West Market street which is of very great advantage in the economical handling of tobacco Wagon entrances from each street make the warehouse very accessible Both of these streets will be hardsurfaced this year.

DR. J. N. LYNCH TALKS TO LOCAL POST OF LEGION

Dr Junius P Lynch, state commander of the American Legion, address a gathering of legionnaires here last night at the Chamber of Commerce The tenor of his remarks were to the effect that the Danville post should wake up and accomplish something definite.

It was the regular meeting night of the Young Men's Business Club, but this organization adjourned and turned the meeting over to the American Legion. The meeting was presided over by Dr. G. W. Johnson, post commander.

Dr Lynch was at one time assistant division surgeon of the 29th Division and knew a number of Danville men during their service with that organization.

He is a forceful speaker and drove home his points with telling effect. During the past several weeks he has been visiting the posts of the State with a view of arousing the posts to greater activity

Danish Prince May Come Here

COPENHAGEN, June 8.—Prince Aage of Denmark, who, according to rumors is to be the next Danish Minister to Washington, has been entertained at luncheon here by the American Club. Minister Prince who presided introduced his highness as "a great traveller, a great soldier fighting on the side of the Allies, and one of Europe's finest middleweight boxers."

In his reply Prince Aage recounted the happy impressions which he had obtained of the Americans whom he met in France during the war, and he appealed to America to assist Europe through the darkest hour she had experienced since the armistice with that same energy and intelligence she showed during the war.

Mauretania Is Out For a New Record

NEW YORK, June 7.—With every cabin filled, the Cunard Line steamship Mauretania, holder of the world's ocean record, got away at noon yesterday for Cherbourg and Southampton. There was a feeling among those on board the ship that Capt. Rostron would let the big liner out this time in an effort to lower the record made when the ship was a coal burner. Now that she has been converted to burn oil it is believed she will prove fully half a knot faster.

On the boat deck in a cage under canvas was a live lion, the property of two vaudeville actors. With this symbol of British authority on board as a mascot the ship's officers thought it might be an opportune time to let the Mauretania out for new figures.

Probst, Deported, Weeps As He Sails

"I'm Through With American Girls," is Goodby of Lovelorn Butler.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Declaring he had only gratitude for the kind treatment he had received from the officials at Ellis Island, August Probst, the Swiss butler, who charged he was kidnapped from the Rolling Rock Country Club, near Pittsburgh, Pa., because he had made love to the daughter of one of the members, was officially deported yesterday on the Mauretania.

Probst's attempt at suicide Monday when he slashed both wrists with a razor resulted only in superficial wounds.

Yesterday when he boarded the Mauretania and was placed under guard in the ship's hospital he declared he was through with American girls. "But I have a deep admiration for your country," said Probst "and I want to come back if I can and become a good American citizen. I have been mistaken in the attitude of American girls. Probably I mistook kindness for love. But, nevertheless, one girl told me she loved me. I confided that fact to one of the patronesses of the Country Club. Soon after that I was spirited away."

Probst was taken on board the vessel by William J. McQuillan of the Immigration Service and Dr. August Kymmel of the United States Public Health Service at Ellis Island, who gave Probst over to the custody of Chief Officer G. R. Doplin of the Mauretania.

Probst broke into tears when Bernard Sandler, his attorney, and Louis H. Junod, the Swiss Consul, bade him goodby. Max Zimmerman, a friend also was there.

"Probst is being deported only because he desires to go," said Sandler. "I could keep him here indefinitely through legal processs, but he wants to go home and visit his mother. Probst told me he would never again make love to an American girl, for he said he realized how insincere they are.

"The reason Probst cut himself yesterday was because he had been confined in the psychopathic ward since last February and that is enough to drive anybody mad. In proof of my assertion that Probst is sane, I offer that is was on his testimony alone that the Grand Jurors indicted his kidnappers. My only regret is that I have not brought the big fellows of the Rooling Rock Club under indictment. Probst's deportation will not stay the action against Leigh and Lawson, the two detectives indicted for kidnapping and wiretapping in connection with Probst's spiriting away."

Probst was placed in the third class quarters of the vessel, but it was said his family had made arrangements to have him transferred to the second class quarters after the steamship left port.

Capital's Daylight-Saving Order May Be Revoked By Harding

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The capital's experiment in daylight saving without changing the clock, put into effect when the president ordered the government forces to report to work at 8 instead of 9 o'clock, may be abandond.

Widespread protest followed this adventure. Household affairs were badly disarranged as a result of the new order. Street-car traffic has not been satisfactory. Government employers in many instances have objected to the new hours. Many local businesses refused to go along by opening earlier in the morning. Practically all places of amusement are operated under the old system.

Because of the growing complaint the president has indicated a willingness to revoke the daylight-saving order if the business and civic organizations which asked for it originally petition him to revert to the old hours. So far no such petitions have been presented but sentiment in Washington is so overwhelming against the present plan that requests for a new order may be presented at an ytime.

Incidentally, the president himself has found some hardships on his own account. The heads of government departments and bureaus have reported to him that while they go to work an hour earlier in the morning they have not been able to quit their desks anw earlier in the afternoon, nor have they been able to readjust their night hours to conform to the time-saving scheme.

The president let it be known today that he would not stand on his original order if he should become convinced that a blunder had been committed. Also he let it be known that in any event the order would be withdrawn before schools reopen this fall. School children have probably been put out more than any other class. They have been compelled for a month to be present at 8 o'clock but parents complain that is has been impossible to put them to bed an hour earlier at night, with the result that the children have lost an hour's sleep each day.

TO RE-OPEN MINES

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 8.—The coal mines of the Chattanooga Iron and Coal company at Dunlap, Tenn., which have an output of 700 tons daily, will be re-opened at once, A. R. Lacey, manager announced tonight. The action was decided upon as a result of the strike, he said.

ENCOUNTERS MOTOR TROUBLE

NILES, Mich., June 8.—Captain Edie Rickenbacker, who left New York yesterday on a trans-continental flight in an all-metal airplane and encountered motor trouble shortly after leaving Detroit late today, landed here early tonight. Rickenbacker and his party plan to resume the flight at daylight tomorrow, and hope to reach Denver by tomorrow night.

Holland Sending Farmers to Canada

REGINA, Sask., June 7.—Farm Laborers are being brought into Saskatchewan from Holland. Hundreds of workers will arrive during the next few weeks. Each will be given a guarantee of a year's work at good wages. At the end of the year most of them are expected to settle on farms of their own.

Saskatchewan has had a farm labor shortage. During the last year acreage of new land along the transcontinental lines of the Canadian National Railways has gone under the plow with the influx of settlers. This has resulted in the need of additional farm help.

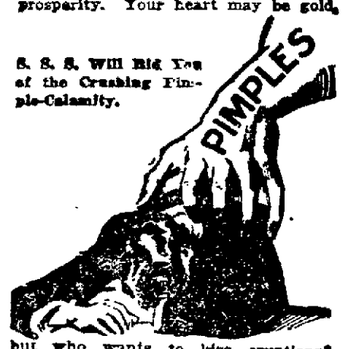

The decision to import men from Holland is in line with the general immigration plan but are carefully examined as to their qualifications. Only those who are fited for agricultural pursuits are selected.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President and Mrs. Harding and part of friends left this morning for New Jersey where tomorrow the president delivers two addresses at Princeton.

Pimples Keep Young Men Down!

They Make Women, Too, a Puzzle! How S. S. S. Stops Skin Eruptions Positively.

Pimples and skin eruptions have a price,—you pay for every pustule, black-head and pimple on your face. Pimples produce prejudice and prevent prosperity. Your heart may be gold,

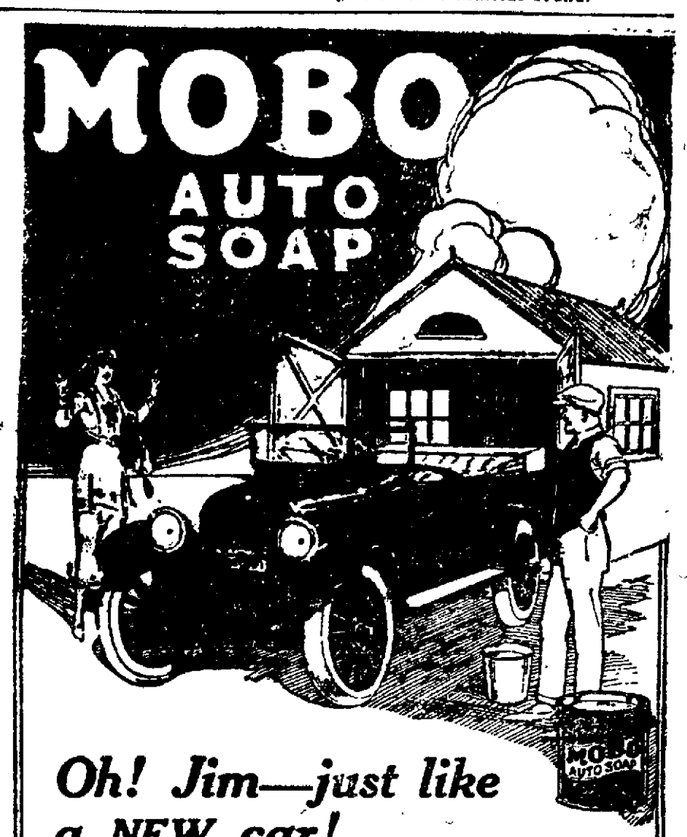

S. S. S. Will Rid You of the Crushing Pimple-Calamity.

but who wants to kiss eruptions? Pimply men don't look like the owners of anything. Pimply women, too, are puzzles, with no prospects and no power. Young men and women, here's the positive way out. Physics and purgatives will fail. What you need is a scientific blood-cleanser. S. S. S. is one of the most powerful destroyers of blood impurities. You can prove this in a short time. S. S. S. has been passed on by a jury of millions of people just like yourself. It is considered one of the most powerful vegetable blood-purifiers and flesh-builders in existence. That's why you hear of so many underweight people putting on lost flesh in a hurry when they begin to hear of so many rheumatics being freed from this scourge, with S. S. S. Start today with S. S. S. and see your face clear and your skin get ruddier, your flesh firmer. It will give you a boost in your career. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. Play Tie Game At Schoolfield

The game at Schoolfield yesterday between that team and Reidsville was called at the end of the eighth inning on account of darkness with the score tied, 3-3. Each side had made three runs off the same number of hits. Schoolfield was ahead in the seventh but Reidsville tied the score. The locals again went ahead in the eighth by making one run, but the visitors again tied the score and darkness halted the contest.

Fights For Part Of Estate Of Christine Nilsson

NEW YORK, June 8.—Mrs. William Weber of No. 1161 Fulton street, Brooklyn, yesterday retained Peter J. McGoldrick, an attorney of No. 44 Court street, to determine if she is not entitled to part, at least, of the estate of her second cousin, Christine Nilsson, Swedish singer, who died last November. The estate is estimaed variously at from $1,500,000 to $15,000,000.

Mrs. Weber's mother, Augusta Pagel, and Christine Nilsson were first cousins. Mrs. Weber said yesterday that her mother came to this country when 19, married and settled in Brooklyn.

Mrs Weber's mother died six years ago. She said that later, in moving her mother's furniture, she found papers which indicated her mother's christening papers were signed by Christine Nilsson's mother. This in itself is sufficient to prove relationship, she said, for in Sweden only a relative may sign a childs christening papers.

Mrs Weber said that since the singer's death last November she has learned Christine's sisters and brothers are dead. Christine was 79 when she died. Mrs Weber says that she herself, her brother and two sisters apparently are the sole next of kin.

Reports from London shortly after the singer's death indicaed that she had left the bulk of her English property to the Countess Rosa Casa de Miranda, her step-daughter.

Gen. Papoulas Bids Farewell

ATHENS, June 7.—General Papoulas, in resigning his command, issued an order to the soldiers of Asia Minor, setting forth that he was happy at having been at the head of that heroic army which honored not only the arms of the Greek nation but the whole of humanity, and for which future Greek generations would pride themselves.

He stated that having reached the age limit in the army "I resign but my task will be continued. Soldiers do not faint; yours is the battle of civilization and justice and freedom. Do not hesitate in your ideals for a single minute. Of a certainty I will soon shake you by the hand when you return, fully victorious, to your homes."

General Hatjanestis, General Papoulas' successor, reached Smyrna today. He is a man of strong will and strict military discipline. He has already assumed the duties of Commander-in-Chief of Asia Minor.

Breaks His Neck Falling Off Car

STAUNTON, June 8.—W. T. Foster, 55, of Crozet, fell from a truck late Tuesday afternoon and broke his neck. Death was instantaneous.

According to witnesses of the tragedy, which occurred near the trestle bridge on the Rockfish road, Foster was walking along when a truck, owned by D. H. Brown, of Albemarle, passed him. Foster is said to have hailed two young men who were riding in the truck and asked for a lift, the request being granted.

As the heavy truck neared the trestle bridge, Foster lost his balance and dropped headlong to the road. His neck was broken and the wheels of the truck passed over his leg. The victim of the accident is said to have left on the seat of the truck a bottle of liquor.

The body was taken to an undertaking establishment in Waynesboro.

ROOM FOR ENQUIRY.

The recent escape from the Henry county prison of three prisoners, one of them a vital prosecution witness in a murder case which stirred public indignation to a high pitch, is fit for action for the grand jury. This action appears to be assured since the legal representative of the State has announced that he will present the matter to the court at the next session which will begin in July. Everybody is concerned in the solution of the mysterious getaway. All officials who are connected with the jail in any way and who are charged with its conduct should welcome an exhaustive enquiry and the people have a right to know how the place of safekeeping for criminals is conducted, not on heresay idle gossip or rumor but on statements of facts. It is of particular importance to discover if possible whether or not a deliberate attempt was made to spirit away a witness whose testimony before a jury might foreshorten the liberty of men who are implicated in a callous murder which has few parallels in the history of crime in this section. This should, after all, be not such a difficult feat. One of two things happened, either keys were manufactured to open the cells and th jail door through th connivance of some outside agencyor else one of the three sets of keys placd in the hands of law officers were used to bring about the freedom of a man whose evidence promised to be a determining factor in the murder trial.

Idle speculation is useless and unfair until a grand jury officially sworn to determine the facts and vested with unusually broad powers has made inquest into the jail delivery. It is of paramount importance that the enquiry be a rigid one. It is a discouraging thing to see a prison widely acclaimed as one of the strongest in this section, unable to hold suspected felons especially at a time like this when law enforcementand the application of the law in its full sense is so necessary to the public weal. The Henry county instance is not one which is likely to be passed over without a very definite determination to get to the rock bottom facts.

FRANCE STICKS TO HER GUNS.

Germany is from month to month learning the value of temporizing—quibbling over the repayment of obligations which it incurrd when it sought to master the world in 1914. One cannot but admire the firm attitude of the French government in demanding the full payment set forth in the treaty of Versailles even at the expense of alienating those firm friendships which were cemented during the long period of self-sacrifice. France, after all knows its constant danger with its breast continuously exposed to that country which cherishes only animosity and which lives for another day of retribution. When the committee of bankers who are meeting in Paris to discuss financial measures for putting Germany upon its feet economically asked the Reparations Commission [illegible] sentiments towards such an undertaking and three of the powers voted for a reduction of Germany's ultimate liability—a further manifestation of weakness [illegible] Germany squirmed [illegible] oppressive debt. France [illegible] and by so doing [illegible] under the terms of the Treaty it is essential that any reduction [illegible] cation of [illegible] unanimous consent. [illegible] at least that France [illegible] longed [illegible] promises made both [illegible] to her dead.

J. M. White, Spartanburg, S. C., shooting from the 19 yard line won the southern handicap championship with 99. White tied with [illegible] of Meuds [illegible] who was declared ineligible because shooting outside his zone. The South Carolina [illegible] was high gun of the amateurs in the 16 yard event breaking 3[illegible] out of 400. He also broke 195 in the eight southern zone events.

Sam Mynley, of Memphis, won the doubles championship with a [illegible] score in a shoot off with [illegible] Ensley, of Memphis.

[illegible] Miner, Dallas, Texas, was high amateur on all targets, breaking 673 out of 700 shots.

Scoop's Colyum

DRAKES BRANCH, June 9.—(Grapevine Wireless.)—Cheer up and be happy. Good times are just around the corner, according to the messages displayed on billboard 24 sheets. For some years now the world has been suffering from a sort of economic topsy-turvydom, in which prices have been declared to be out of all proportion to quality. Today that condition is changing. Yes, indeed, quality is coming back and prices are back to a reasonable level. With costs brought within the limit of Mr. and Mrs. General Public's pocket-books buying increases healthily. In seeking pleasure we all want good value and there never was a time that value meant any more than now. Herewith we submit some joke samples clipped from the press of the world by "Topics of the Day" Films:

My Flapper.

She's just a frazzled fuzzy mop
 Surroundin' eyes of blue,
With underneath a snug snub nose

She's just a slender half-clothed thing,
 But, though she'll stand a lot,
If you should, thoughtless, go too far,
 She'll hand it to you hot!

She's just as brainy as the rest.
 She just pretends she's wild;

Instantly it seemed as if the crew swarmed from every direction. It was a glorious, if ignoble, fight. In about the time that it might have taken to tell it Garrick and Dick found themselves flung overboard in the open of Greenport Harbor with the tide running strong out of Peconic Bay into Gardiner's Bay.

Only a couple of athletes would ever have found themselves again on shore, wet and dripping, stripping off what was left of their clothes and hanging them on the ribs of an old wreck to dry in the blazing sun after the tough battle in the water.

"Well," chortled Garrick as they sat on the deserted sand naked and exhausted, "we had nothing on when we came into this world . . . but they've got something on us now!"

Dick laughed and looked over at Guy. Garrick was a man after his own heart.

"As we used to say at Upton, 'Where do we go from here?'"

Garrick rolled over on his back and stretched as the sun boiled out salt water that had puckered his skin.

"Squaring the 'Inner Circle'!" he replied tersely as if it were all in the day's work.

CHAPTER IV
THE INNER CIRCLE

THEY caught the afternoon train for the city.

Sauntering slowly down Forty-Ninth Street, they found the address of the Inner Circle, a big old brownstone house midway in the block west of the Avenue, back of a high iron fence with plain brass knobs setting off the sections. Heavy grilled doors opened into an English basement. Two or three smart motors were drawn up along the curb.

"Recherche!" nodded Dick, hesitating a bit.

Garrick turned in at the gate and pressed a button by the side of the doors. "Aren't I select enough for the Inner Circle?" He straightened with true British swank.

The door swung open. Garrick inquired nothing, explained nothing. He inclined slightly toward Dick to precede him and they passed the Americanized butler. It had been a magnificent gesture on Garrick's part. The most difficult thing had been accomplished on sheer nerve.

He might have owned the place as he led the way up the short fight of stairs from the former basement.

"Monsieur Georges—as I live!"

Garrick grasped the hand of a thick-set, erect, very dark Frenchman with a black, pointed mustache. He had been standing just at the head of the stairs.

"Ah-h! It is Monsieur the Admiral!" The Frenchman grinned pleasantly, displaying rows of splendid teeth. Indeed he seemed in fine trim.

Before them opened a little alcove reception room. Garrick paced on into it, followed by Georges, and introduced Dick.

"You must know Monsieur, Dick, who made the old Chateau Rouge up by Tarrytown so wonderful in the old days?"

Georges motioned them to a little table, clapped his hands sharply and a waiter appeared on rubber heels, took an order and they settled themselves. "Now for the mystery of the dancing men," whispered Garrick to Dick just as Georges turned. There was just a shade of contempt in Garrick's tone of raillery. At a glance he had taken an estimate of the character of the place.

As nearly as Garrik could make it out, M. Georges was making an excellent thing out of the revolt against reform.

In a lull of the conversation and above the soft Hawaiian strains floated new voices from a table outside.

"Well, Glenn, here we are, alone—for once."

Glenn reached over, took her hand, passed his foot under the table and laid it gently over her dainty ankle. "Honest to God, Vira, I love you!" Then he added fervently, "I want to get you in my racer, soon, and we'll motor out to some nice quiet spot, like Canoe Place used to be . . . and I'm going to tell you all about it. Will you let me tell you . . . how much I love you?"

"Dear boy, I'm just dying to go on that ride with you." Her eyes were sparkling like dew drops on a green leaf in the morning sun. Vira knew it, meant them to sparkle. At a lower level she would have reasoned, how could one get over dramatic moments on the screen unless one lived them? As it was she merely felt.

"Make it tomorrow, Vira." Glenn took her hands and toyed with the ring finger on the left hand.

"Well, you dumbbells!" laughed Rae, suddenly poking her pretty piquant face around the corner. "What are you doing, Vira? Rehearsing a scene on Glenn? You're not falling for it, are you, old dear?" With a shrug of her shoulders and her arms akimbo, she threw her head back and laughed silvery. Quickly leaning her beautiful body forward she waved a mocking finger toward

M. GEORGES PROFITED BY THE REVOLT AGAINST REFORM.

Glenn. "With three cocktails, Vira, he would say the same things to me. Don't believe a word he says."

Her voice dropped to a "bzz-bzz-bzz." Georges had been called away from Garrick and Dick to some of his multitudinous business in pleasing the ultra particular. They strained their ears.

"I was just up there." Then a break, "And it came in over Pinkey's wireless from . . ." It was lost. "It said, Watch out for Garrick and Dick . . . They got ashore . . . To New York . . . Get them out of the way for good."

Garrick and Dick exchanged glances. "Forewarned, forearmed," whispered Dick.

"Our forearms are about all we've got, too!"

There was a swish of someone passing their door and along the hall. Dick started. It was Ruth herself! Both he and Garrick were on their feet in a moment, quietly, down the hall after her and around a heavy carved newell post up the stairs to the second floor.

She turned as she heard their steps in the wide hall on the second floor.

"And along came Ruth!" exclaimed Garrick, smiling.

"What are you boys doing here? Snooping again? It's a bad idea. Snoopers never come to any good end!" She laughed, but neither could be so obtuse as not to see that there was a kick in it.

"Wait here a minute. Does anybody know you are here?"

"No one but Georges."

She did not wait for more explanation but was out in the hall again, closing the door softly.

Garrick, running true to form, opened a cedar chest between two closet doors. He beckoned Dick. "A radio frequency amplifier!" he muttered to Dick. "All wired up." He closed the chest upon the complete paraphernalia, thought a moment, then stood up on it, running his finger along the picture molding that circuited the room. He blew the dust from his fingers and wiped them on his handkerchief.

"About forty feet of wire placed behind the picture molding about the room where it's out of sight . . . The receiving outfit in a cedar chest where no one can see it. Humph!"

"That's all very interesting, but just shut up that chest before we have fifteen men dancing on two dead men's chests!" Garrick was looking keenly at the color scheme of the lounge. "Pink-Pinkey. . . . "I was just up there . . . I gather that the threat . . . or warning . . . came over this wireless. From the 'Bacchante'? It's running through my mind: '5-22-22 250 cases S. S. Aroyo. CKGG.' This is CKGG. Do you begin to get it?"

Dick nodded, half comprehending. 'As they said about little Willie, 'What next? What next?'"

Ruth opened the door quietly, mysteriously. She seemed to be laboring under high nervous tension.

"You saw the dance floor and dining room downstairs. And you met Georges. I guess you can guess that anything Georges has anything to do with will be at least aristocratic?"

"Everything is classy and in taste," admitted Dick. "It has atmosphere, and all that." He longed to go on with more personal questions. But Garrick's presence restrained him.

Ruth beckoned them out in the hall. It was noticeable that she was discreetly quiet. "Of course, I can't show you around up here. You see, these are the lodgings of about half a dozen members and, believe me, they pay. That was a lounge, really for ladies." She was leading them back down the thick-carpeted hall. She came to a door. "There's one thing you might be interested in."

Ruth turned, opened another door and disclosed a stairway down into the cellar, in which a light was burning. She started down and the door closed behind them.

"Strike a match—if you want to see some good stuff!"

Dick struck a light.

But as he did so a rush of air extinguished it and back of them clanged the iron door. There was a grinding of a bolt.

"Confound it!" growled Garrick at letting himself be trapped.

A gong began ringing, stridently.

It seemed as if the very floor on which they were was moving. There was a metallic noise overhead. Garrick looked up. It seemed as if the earth was opening above them and a glaring light pouring in.

He ran his hand up alongside and over his head. There was a heavy iron bow, U-shaped but inverted. They were rising. The top of the U seemed to be parting iron doors on either side.

"Hank it!" growled Garrick. "The ash lift!"

Up the little elevator rose, the bell still ringing to warn passersby on the sidewalk, up to the street level, then stopped.

Back of them was the iron grill of the Inner Circle. Dick looked at the fence, then at Guy and laughed foolishly. They stepped off the lift. Slowly the platform began to sink and as it did the pair of folding iron doors closed down again over the U.

Just as they clanged shut there came a voice merrily from the depths.

"You can't slide down my cellar door!"

CHAPTER V
MUSIC IN THE AIR

THE next morning was rainy, damp and gloomy. Garrick and Dick had breakfasted and were discussing the events of the day before. Garrick's mind was most active when his physical being seemed laziest. Stretching out in his chair, raising his arms slowly above his head, he yawned and was about to deliver himself of some sage observation on life in general and the case in particular when the telephone rang.

"Hang it, what's this? Answer it, Dick, old man?"

Dick's mind and body were both alert. He had breakfasted with a couple of invisible companions, love and anxiety. "Garrick." He held his hand now over the transmitter. "My word! It's Mrs. Walden."

THE FAN, WOMAN'S WEAPON

BY MARIAN HALE

THE present age sees a marvelous improvement in all the implements of warfare—including the fan.

Fans, you know, are just as much the armament of flirts as swords are of soldiers. They have always been dangerous weapons in the hands of the dangerous sex, from Cleopatra to Peggy Joyce.

This seasons fans are so gorgeous and alluring and irresistible that I believe they will see many famous feminine victories and prove romance is still with us.

Besides the glories creations of feather, silk and lace, there are many novelties.

Perfumed fans are popular. As they perform their monotonous labor they give off fragrant odors of sandalwood and the mysterious east.

There is the fan for the cigarette smoker which supplies parking space under its plumage for a dozen of her average brand.

Musical fans play your favorite musical selections as you wave them to and fro.

THE kitchenette fan suggests unlimited possibilities. Each rib is a knife, fork or spoon, and you have the most complete equipment for the most complicated meal!

Another type of fan acts as a tabloid dressing table. If you approach it with a knowing touch you can extract a mirror, lipstick, eyebrow pencil and lip rouge from its depth.

Perhaps we'll see a revival of the fan so popular in the days of the Medicis, where a sharp, efficient and handy dagger might be slipped from its interior.

Or perhaps men may arm themselves. In England men once carried fans. A famous Englishman once had his long-handled one very convenient for chastising his daughter who ran him into debt.

IN Victorian days mirror fans were popular. The much exploited maid with the downcast eyes might well be so, for in her fan she had a mirror and could see everything that was going on about her.

The modern girl, however, prefers to see life first hand not through a mirror, but I'll tell you this:

You can learn more about a woman's character and philosophy of life by watching her choice of fans and her operation of them than from the most exhaustive treatise on glands and complexes.

WONDER.

By Oscar Williams

Come out with me and watch a line of mountains
Crawl like a huge blue snake across the distance;
Or hear a row of trees like glittering fountains
Splash in the sun with sibilent insistence;

Come out and see how goldenrods are burning
Where spring brushed by and left a fire that lingers,
Or try to touch them, all the while discerning
How in the breeze they shy beneath your fingers.

And some rapt windless night come out and listen
To the gold glimmering stars silently flowing
Over the world, a stone in a stream
 where glisten
Strange lights from skies of which there is no knowing;—

And through your spirit's unlit deep will blunder
Like dusk, a hush and holiness and wonder.

NORTH CAROLINA WINS

DARLINGTON, S. C., June 8.—Striking out twenty men, Sorrell, pitching for Clinton, North Carolina High school champion, held McColl, South Carolina champion, to three hits here this afternoon, the North Carolinians winning the championship of the two states, 4 to 2. Thompson, McColl's pitcher, struck out ten men and allowed six hits.

RAILROAD ENGINEERS BUY OWN MINE TO REVOLUTIONIZE COAL INDUSTRY

TWO OF THE HOUSES SELECTED FOR [illegible] COLLIERIES AN D WARREN S. STONE, GRAND CHIEF OF THE BROTHERHOOD OF LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS, WHO IS THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COLLIERIES BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

CLEVELAND, June 9.—Revolutionizing the coal mining industry through the establishment of a "coal company with a soul."

This is the aim of leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which has just entered the coal mining business by a $2,000,000 investment in West Virginia and eKntucky coal mines.

And they make this venture, without fear of financial loss, at a time when the coal mines of the country are tied up by a nation-wide strike! They feel that they have solved the problem of labor [illegible] and will have no trouble [illegible] [illegible] in the [illegible] brotherhood's [illegible]

Elimination of [illegible] stock promoters [illegible] and watered stock in the formation of the company.

[illegible] for the miners and consequent removal of strike danger and general discontent.

Elimination of middlemen's profits in distribution. This is to be done by enabling consumers to organize their own co-operative buying [illegible] and to sell to themselves at cost.

[illegible]

The [illegible] as the new company is called, is owned by several thousand [illegible] throughout the country, who subscribed in small amounts for the $2,000,000 stock.

The main problem in coal mining is men. Coal mining is dirty, hard and dangerous work. Yet coal miners for centuries have been among the poorest paid of manual laborers, in addition to inadequate wages, they also suffer from irregular employment. These are the main reasons why miners strike and why the industries of the nation periodically face a fuel famine.

This statement by Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the brotherhood and chairman of the collieries board of directors, is a basis for changes made in the system of running Coal River Collieries. Right at the outset, before the company is even paying dividends, miners there are receiving a dollar a day more than the highest wage scale asked by the union in neighboring mines.

Modernized Mine

Labor has been lightened by the installation of modern mining machinery wherever possible.

The brotherhood has substituted for the average dilapidated and drab mining town, model villages with handsome little homes, schools, stores, churches, amusement buildings, thorough sanitation and all the facilities of a small city. No cattle are allowed to roam in the streets. Garbage is regularly collected without charge. Even the porches have been screened at company expense.

Why It Was Done

This, say the engineers, is good business as well as good policy. Model living conditions, ample wages and machinery to lighten the labor will attract the highest type of miners, who in turn will produce more coal than would men who are sullen and undernourished.

The brotherhood has shown a good record as a business organization in entering new fields. They erected and made a paying proposition of a skyscraper in Cleveland; they established the first co-operative national bank in America, and a short time ago announced the organization of a million-dollar investment company as an auxiliary to the bank. This, too, is now a success.

NO DISPUTE OVER THE ELECTION OF TRAMMELL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 8. There seemed to be no disposition among politicians tonight to dispute the claim of Senator Park Trammell that he had been re-nominated over former Governor Albert W. Gilchrist of Punta Gorda in yesterday's Democratic primary by a majority of forty thousand.

Newspaper tabulations on incomplete returns indicated the Senator had won by a three to one majority. These tabulations also left no doubt as to any of the three contested congressional officers, to which the three incumbents were returned by substantial margins.

Turks Want to See U. S. Ball Games

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 9.—Baseball teams from American destroyers of the Black Sea fleet have been invited to stage a series of championship games this summer at Trebizond. A pennant for the winning team will be given by Turkish business men.

The invitation to the American sailors was sent to Admiral Mark Bristol, U. S., high commissioner at Constantinople. It was in the name of General Harim Bey, military commandant of Trebizond, and Prof. Morieu Bey, superintendent of the local schools. The municipal authorities plan the erection of an up-to-date baseball diamond close to the harbor, so that any sailors compelled to remain on board the destroyers may view the game from the decks of their ships.

"We are very anxious to encourage American ships to spend as much time as possible in Trebizond," says Prof. Monieu Bey in a letter accompanying the invitation. "We are going to take every advantage of their presence to encourage American athletics in our schools. All the grand stand seats at the baseball games will the reserved for school children, who we hope will learn the American game and the American athletic spirit."

Detroit Man's Proposition Only One Worth Considering, Congress Is Told by Military Committee.

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Three separate reports, setting forth recommendations for action by Congress on proposals for the Muscle Shoals projects were made to the House today by members of the military committee, acting Chairman McKenzie, who submitted the majority report, declared that the Ford proposal was the only one found "worthy of consideration" and asks acceptance by the House provided the Gorgas plant is not included. Concurrence in the majority report except for the reference to the Gorgas plant, is voiced in one minority opinions made by Representative Wright, of Georgia, and supported by one Republican, and the remainder Democratic members.. In a third report an opinion adverse to acceptance of the Ford offer unless modified in other sections than the Gorgas plant.

Guy Barham Is Dead In London

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 9.—Death in London early today of Guy Barham, publisherof the Los Angeles Herald, following an operation to the throat several days ago, is announced today by the Dow Jones Ticker Service.

Five Men Buffeted By Surf Are Saved

ATLANTIC CITY, Jne 8.—Five men, including a life guard, were saved in a sensational surf rescue this afternoon. One of the men and the life guard were unconscious when brought ashore. The guard, Alex. Echstein, is in the Atlantic City hospital.

James Monahan, No. 3048 Stillman street, Philadelphia, a delegate to the convention of National Araveiers' Protective Association, was in the surf off Kenatucky yenue with other visitors. He was caught in an undertow and signalled for help.

Echstein started to his aid with a buoy and lifeguards, Owen Kertland and Charley Murray set out in a lifeboat. At the same time several men in the Monahan party, who were closer in, started swimming to him.

As Eckstein neared Monahan, three men, who sought to aid him, became exhausted and seized Eckstein, and the bouy. The four were swept toward a jetty and dashed against the heavy timbers and rocks. Three suffered cuts and bruises, but Eckstein, who was closer to the jetty, was rendered unconscious.

Meantime Kertland and Murray pulled Monahan aboard and then sped toward the group by the jetty. Fellow guards grabbed Eckstein and drew him and another swimmer into the boat. Strong swimmers among bathers assisted the two other injured men to the beach.

Non-Co-Operation Movement Failing

CALCUTTA, June 8.—For some time all the fire has gone out of the non-co-operation movement. On this date last year Mahatma Gandhi, the Ali brothers, Lala Lajpat Rai (of Lahore), Pundit Montal Nohm (of Allahabad), C. R. Das (of Calcutta), Dr. Kitchlow of the Punjaub were in full activity. All at present are incarcerated.

Such polltical leadership as there is at the moment being undertaken by Pundit Madan Mohan Malaviya of Benares and Allahabad, who may be described as a co-operative extremist, or alternatively as a Moderate politician of advanced views in close touch with extremist circles, with moderates and also with the government. Benares Hindu university is his special absorption. He it was who arranged the interviews between Lord Reading and Mr. Gandhi at Simla last autumn; he it was who arranged the round table deputation of moderates who interviewed the viceroy at the end of December. He was on the reception committee for organizing receptions for the Prince of Wales and in this connection was most active at Benares.

Harvey's Long Trousers Arouses Senate's Mirth

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Cabled reports from London that Ambassador George Harvey had decided to abandon plush knickerbockers at court functions and appear in long trousers and conventional evening dress amused the Senate for a moment today when Senator George W. Norris, Republican, Nebraska, facetiously said the situation was such as to demand Mr. Harvey's recall.

Mr. Norris sarcastically suggested the appearance of Colonel Harvey in long pants would constitute a grave offense against the dignity of the court of King George.

"Did the Senator notice in the morning paper that Mr. Harvey is guilty of an offense that ought to bring his recall? It is boldly announced in the press dispatches that he has said he is going to wear long pants at social functions hereafter. What does the Senator think about recalling him for such an offense against the dignity of the King of England?" Norris asked Senator Harrison.

Senator Harrison agreed that the situation seemed to warrant summary action, but observed that if the Administration wanted to recall Mr. Harvey it had had ample excuse for such action heretofore.

Woman Graduates As a Physician

CHARLOTTESVILLE, June 8.—The names of graduates in the medical school at the University of Virginia were posted today. Third on the list, which contains the names of twenty members of the fourth-year class, is that of Miss Ruth Dean, the first woman to obtain a medical degree at Jefferson's university. Miss Dean, who is from Greenwood, Miss., is a Bachelor of Arts of the University of Mississippi, where she studied medicine for two years before the University of Virginia opened its doors to women.

The graduates come from seven states and the District of Columbia, while one is from a foreign country, India, where he will learn to practice his profession.

PLEDGE SUFFICIENT FUNDS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 8.—Individual members of the international Civitan clubs have pledged sufficient funds to pay off the debts of the association and furnish it with a working capital, it was announced at the concluding session of the annual convention here today. Resolutions were adopted declaring that members of the Civitans may not join international clubs of like character. The convention will meet next year at Washington.

UNCOMFORTABLE AFTER MEALS?

Then Try a Pinch of Black-Draught. This White-Haired Alabama ady Says It Helps Her.

Dutton, Ala.—In recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said:

"I am getting up in years; my head is pretty white. I have seen medicine and remedies come and go, but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work.

"Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know, for I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, uncomfortable feeling after meals.

"Sour stomach and sick headache can be relieved by taking Black-Draught. It aids indigestion, also assists the liver in throwing off impurities. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught and do to my friends and neighbors."

For simple, common ailments, due to disordered stomach, liver and bowels, you will find Thedford's Black-Draught a useful and valuable remedy. The purely vegetable ingredients of which Black-Draught is composed gently stimulate the liver, increasing the flow of digestive juices, thereby helping to prevent or relieve constipation in an easy, natural way.

Insist upon Thedford's, the original and only genuine Black-Draught powdered herb and root liver medicine.—adv.

Would Give Hearst Anything But Job

Wilson Men Willing to Put Friends On Ticket and Send Wife to Senate—Smith Will Aid Plans.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Wilson Democrats in this state, while prepared to oppose to the bitter end the nomination of William R. Hearst as head of the Democratic state ticket, are quite willing the nomination for United States senator should go to some Democrat of standing acceptable to Mr. Hearst, and would not oppose one or more additional places on the ticket being awarded to some "Hearst Democrat."

One prominent Wilson Democrat recently said that if Mr. Hearst should show the slightest inclination to accept a nomination for he state Senate or for the House of Representatives, he would gladly support a movement looking to her nomination in a safely Democratic district, as long as her husband could be kept off the Democratic ticket. It is even understood that the proposal was tentatively made to Mrs. Hearst some time before she joined her husband on his trip to Europe by a small group of Democratic women and that she did not receive the suggestion with any degree of enthusiasm.

Among Democrats friendly to Mr. Hearst whom Wilson Democrats are looking upon with favor for the Senate nomination, ex-Governor Martin H. Glynn, now in Europe, and James W. Gerard, ex-United States ambassador to Germany, were mentioned by a prominent Wilson Democrat, who said that undoubtedly there were others who would be acceptable to Democrats of the type he represented and against whom Mr. Hearst could offer no possible objection. While ex-Governor Glynn and Mr. Gerard are known to be on friendly terms with Mr. Hearst, both are men who had the confidence of ex-President Wilson, and who loyally supported him both times he was a candidate for President.

[illegible] intensive work looking to the nomination of Mr. Hearst has been carried on by William J. Conners of Buffalo and his lieutenants there have been what one prominent Wilson Democrat termed "conversations," but no formal conferences or agreement on a program among Democrats who are held together at this time through their opposition to Mr. Hearst is due only in part to his treatment of Mr. Wilson.

While he professed to speak only for himself, the views of this prominent Wilson Democrat undoubtedly reflect in general the views of the entire group of which he is a member. He said other members with whom he had talked agreed with him that ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith should be nominated for governor as the candidate in the best position to defeat Governor Miller, whom the Republicans probably will nominate.

It was learned also that ex-Governor Smith had been in touch with members of the group, and it was intimated that he had promised not to become a candidate for United States senator, so as to leave an important place on the ticket open for a friend of Mr. Hearst. Belief was expressed that in the end the common sense of the Democratic paryt in this state would assert itself, that then the Hearst talk would die out and the leaders be in a position to disarm opposition from Mr. Hearst and his newspapers by meeting him half way in making up the state and more than half way in formulating the party platform.

The "bitter-end" opponents of Mr. Hearst believed his nomination would mean certain defeat—for the head of the Democratic ticket at least—and that the defeat of Mr. Hearst inevitably would lead to a thorough re-organization of the Democratic party in this state in time for the Presidential campaign two years hence. In the event that Tammany Leader Charles F. Murphy should be found conniving in the plant to make Mr. Hearst the Democratic standard-bearer this fall, as there is a disposition to believe in some quarters, or should he be found meekly acquiescing in the nomination without a fight, they declare his dethronement as leader of the Tammany organizatino would follow as an inevitable corallary.

"The nomination of Mr. Hearst would lead to defeat on election day and a cataclysm within the Democratic state organization," said one [illegible] "bitter-ender." "It might come to a third ticket—a truly Democratic ticket in the event of Mr. Hearst's nomination, but there has been no talk of that as yet. There are [illegible] men who feel that if Mr. Murphy [illegible] feel inclined to give the nomination to Mr. Hearst and the election to the Republicans, he should be given plenty of rope with which to hang himself. It may come [illegible] as well now as some time in the future."

Many of the Democrats who so bitterly opposed the nomination of Mr. Hearst are less unwilling to let him [illegible] They are inclined to [illegible] Miller administration and [illegible] generally as [illegible] and point to [illegible] in Pennsylvania, Indiana and elsewhere as indications that the people are clamoring for progressive government.

[illegible] constitutional amendment, a safe rational plan looking to municipal ownership of public utilities with powers of regulation over local public utilities privately owned, lodged in municipal governments, reconstruction of the state administrative departments through constitutional amendment as proposed by Alfred E. Smith while governor and defeated through the opposition of the Republican legislature are outstanding features of the Democratic state platform which would have the support of Mr. Hearst's opponents. Many of these proposals have been ardently advocated by Mr. Hearst in his newspapers.

William J. Conners was asked yesterday if Mayor Hylan would be acceptable to him as a substitute for Mr. Hearst as the head of the Democratic ticket.

"I am working for the nomination of Mr. Hearst, because Hearst is the man the Democrats up-state want to run," he replied. "Moreover, I don't think Mayor Hylan could be induced to leave the important job he has now. Hylan as mayor down here and Hearst in Albany as governor could do effective team work which would be left undone if both were not in those very positions."

When the attention of Mr. Conners was called to the fact that in all probability Hearst and Hylan would find themselves with a Republican legislature on their hands, he expressed the opinion that there would be a Democratic landslide in the legislative elections not only in this city but in Buffalo and in the other large cities upstate where car fares, gas, electric light and telephone rates have gone up since the Republicans have been in power at Albany.

"KAISERISM IS GONE FOREVER," SAYS VON GERLACH

By MILTON BRONNER.

BERLIN, June 7.—"Germany is done with Hohenzollerns and militarism and has elected for a republic and the ways of peace and industry," says the bravest journalist in the country, Hellmuth von Gerlach, editor of "Die Welt Am Montag."

Von Gerlach defied the kaiser in the old days and today is in danger of his life because the monarchists so bitterly hate him.

He was beaten up by an armed band of 15 kaiserists who all but killed him.

"Outsiders must remember Germany is essentially an industrial nation," says Von Gerlach.

"Sixty per cent of Germany is made up of industrial workers. They are almost all republicans. Fifteen per cent, more is made up of small governmental functionaries, such as railway workers, letter carriers, policemen, firemen and the miner clerks in the government bureaus, almost all republicans likewise.

"They see that a republic has not brought heaven to Germany, but they know our bad condition in the natural aftermath of war and defeat.

"They are not foolish enough to believe that to overthrow the republic and put a Hohenzollern back on the throne would put any more potatoes in the kitchen pot or make shoes one mark cheaper.

"The great mass of the German people know now they are free. They walk like freemen. They breathe free air. They can speak their thoughts as well as think them.

"Of course there are monarchists in Germany. All the old junker crowd the higher officials and army officers now deprived of their jobs and their swords, all the nobility, most of the great industrial over-lords, sigh for a return of the monarchy. And they work to bring it about. There is never any dearth of money.

"But don't let that alarm any friend of the German republic.

"The workers defeated the Kapp monarchist revolution by the simple means of a general strike. They can defeat any other kaiserist movement as easily."

ABOVE—THE BRIDAL COUPLE IN PLANE IN WHICH THEY WERE MARRIED; BELOW—THE REV. JORDAN READING THE CEREMONY.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 9—Miss Zeima Olson, of Minneapolis, wanted to be married in an airplane. She also wanted to be married by the Rev. E. A. Jordan, weight approximately 220 pounds.

The cockpit of the plane, in which the officiating minister must sit, would accommodate in addition to the pilot none over four feet six inches, weight 75 pounds.

The bridegroom, Edwin J Moline, solved the problem.

With 10,000 spectators of the air derby at St Paul, Minn, listening in by means of four amplifying horns, the couple were married by radio as they sailed high above the ground. The river Jordan read the service from the pagoda built for the use of judges of horse races.

Thus the first authenticated air-radiophone wedding in history.

GAME AT DURHAM FORFEITED TO DANVILLE WHEN MANAGER CALLS PLAYERS OFF FIELD

DURHAM, June 8—Today's game was forfeited to Danville by the usual score of 9 to 0 after Manager Gooch of the Durham team had called his men off the field in the eighth inning after protesting vigorously, decisions of the umpires during that frame It had been a beautiful game until this time The score was standing 1-1 and a pretty contest was in progress, when the storm broke. Pitchers Caviness and Rodgers were having a pitchers' battle.

When Durham took their bat in the eighth inning Dayton led off with a single to right field Caviness was given a base on balls With Dayton on second and Caviness on first and none out Magrann the next batsman attempted to sacrifice the two men forward a base Instead of sacrificing Magrann hit a pop fly to Third Baseman Holmes. The ball was within the foul line by several feet. Holmes caught the ball and held it momentarily but then dropped it, thus forestalling the runners on second and first to advance on the play Instead the runners were sure that Holmes would catch the ball and they held their stations. Magrann was beating it for first and Holmes picked up the ball quickly and hurled it to first base, McMillan receiving it McMillan tagged Magrann and ran across the diamond and touched third, putting out Dayton, who had stayed at second Both Magrann and Dayton were declared out by Umpire O'Keefe. This gave cause for vigorous protest on the part of Durham players who held that the batted ball was an infield fly Manager Gooch came forward, together with several of the Durham players and were soon engaged in a heated argument with both umpires In the meantime, Caviness who had held first saw that second base was apparently uncovered tried to take this sack Palmer, who had the ball, beat him to it and Caviness was declared out The fans were putting up a furious row while Manager Gooch was doing his share of the quarreling Finally Umpire O'Keefe ordered Gooch off the field and out of the game. Gooch was met at the gate by O T Carver, president of the Durham club, who instructed Gooch to call his men off the field. The manager then went back to the lot and waved all of his players in. Umpire Dagherty, who was umpire in chief, then declared the game forfeited to Danville by the usual score of 9 to 0. The fans by this time were furious, as were the Durham players also.

When Umpires O'Keefe and Daugherty started to leave the park, an angry mob met them outside the gate and were surging forward towards them, making all kinds of threats. Some unknown fan kicked Umpire Kelly on the leg with terrific force. O'Keefe fell to the ground, declaring that his leg was broken. Police officers were called to the scene. O'Keefe was carried back into the ball field into a refreshment stand. Daugherty also went back. Whether O'Keefe's leg was actually broken could not be ascertained here late this afternoon

Both umpires were held in the small compartment in the grand stand until every fan had dispersed. Police remained both on the inside and outside of the park until everybody had gone and then the two umpires were taken to town

The official scorer of the game got in touch with W G Bramham, president of the Piedmont League and related to him exactly what had happened President Bramham gave no intimation of what action he would take, but stated that in such cases the manager who calls his men off the field as Gooch did, was usually fined $50 and the club fined $100. The head official said that Gooch should have completed the game under protest, instead of taking the action he did Just what action will be taken is not known nad whether the game will be officially credited to Danville or protested remains to be seen although when a game is forfeited, this is held final.

The only question which might arise is whether the ball hit by Magrann was an infield fly. Owing to the fact that Magrann attempted to sacrifice, which does not give the batsman a time at bat, and did not attempt to swing at the ball the fly, according to baseball rules cannot be regarded as an infield fly When a pop fly is the result of an attempted sacrifice hit, it does not apply to the infield fly rule.

The rule on this play follows:

"There is one exception to the infield fly rule. It refers to the bunting at a ball with the intent to sacrifice the runner

"With runners on first and second, or first, second and third, and the batsman attempts a bunt in an effort to advance the runners, which results in a fair fly ball, it shall not be regarded as an infield fly."

After Gooch had been sent off the field, play was resumed but only for a few minutes The manager soon made his reappearance and called the men in on President Carver's instructions

Piedmont Machine Works

TO THE CITIZENS OF DANVILLE:

I respectfully announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of Superintendent of the Water, Gas and Electric Departments of the City of Danville, subject to the Democratic primary to be held August 1, 1922.

I started with these Departments as Secretary and Treasurer in 1890; in 1898 upon the recommendation of the late Capt. C. A. Ballou, (then Engineer and Superintendent) I was elected by the City Council Assistant Superintendent. In 1903, at the death of Captain Ballou, I was chosen Superintendent, and by successive City Councils from that date until 1914 I was re-elected by unanimous vote. In 1914, 1916, 1918 and 1920, I have been re-elected by the people at popular election without opposition.

During this period of 32 years no charge has been made against me as a citizen and none against my administration of the properties entrusted to my supervision.

Since I have been Superintendent, the City Pump House and Filter Plant, the City Gas House and the City Electric Light and Power Station have all been planned and erected. During the period of my administration, our patronage has grown from perhaps 1.500 customers to a total of more than 12,000. Our receipts have increased from less than $50,000.00 a year to more than $500,000.00 a year. Whereas these Departments formerly produced receipts less than the disbursements, they now turn into the general treasury of the City, under normal conditions, from $75,000.00 to $100.000.00 in excess of the disbursement. When the City Council placed me in financial charge of the City's Departments the property value. exclusive of any franchises, was $1,250,000.00. Since that time and while the City Council and the people of Danville have seen fit to continue me in charge of these Departments, these property values have increased $1,000,000.00, so that the fair value of the property owned by the City at this time is not less than $1,250,000.00 It is a matter of pride to me as a citizen of Danville that whereas the citizens of Greensboro, High Point, Salisbury, Winston-Salem, Durham, Raleigh and other North Carolina cities pay $1.90 a thousand cubic feet for gas, the gas consumers of Danville pay only $1.20. This means that during the past year the gas takers in Danville paid for the gas they used $91,000.00 less than they would have been charged for the same quantity and quality of gas in any of the cities above mentioned. A like saving in water and electric light and power will be seen by comparing the rates in cities similarly situated with Danville, throughout the entire South.

The records of the City Council will show that as Superintendent of the Gas Department I have always, in response to their requests to me for recommendations, advised against their raising the price of gas, and I shall in the future make to the Council a recommendation for a reduction in the price of gas just as soon as it can be done without cutting the wages of our faithful employees. It should be remembered that Danville was one of the very few cities in the country which did not raise its rates on water or electricity in the abnormal cost period, during and subsequent to the war. At the present time our rates on water, gas and electricity are lower than any city in the United States similarly located.

It would seem that a business of this magnitude and requiring trained and experienced supervision would more likely procure satisfactory results under an official who had devoted 32 years to its practical management than could be hoped for under the management of one who has had no experience whatever in producing and distributing water, gas and electricity.

I will appreciate the good will, the vote and the influence of the Citizens of Danville in giving me a vote of confidence upon my record, though it will be impossible to see each voter personally in so short a time. If re-elected I pledge a faithful discharge of my duty and to stand in the future as I have endeavored to stand in the past for the best interests of the City of Danville, and its citizens.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK TALBOTT.

Head Mystery Is Not Yet Solved

NEWPORT NEWS, June 8.—And still the Young's Mill mystery of the missing human head has not been solved.

Deputy Sheriff J. C. Curtis of Warwick county yesterda ystated that S. S. Curtis, of Warwick county, found a bag with an offensive odor. This probably was the bag found by the local citizen who believed he had discovered the human head receptacle, he sadi. He learned that two bags of cats had been dropped in the pond within the last 30 days.

Mr. Curtis did not nntimate that what the fishing party found was a bag of cats. He merely asserted that the bag found by the Newport News citizen probably was that which once held the nine lives of a coterie of kittens. The human head and the bag which held it probably was washed away and never will be found, it was stated.

A lot of water is coming from the mill pond into the lower grounds at Young's Mill, and it is impossible to conduct a thorough search there. Mr. Curtis and a party worked long and arduously Sunday; but found nothing.

He said that as soon as the water goes down he will make a new and better search.

Judge C. W. Rbbinson, Major George Collins and others while on their way to the reservoir a week ago today stopped at Young's Mill to get minnows. The seine drew up a bag They opened it. Inside, say Major Collins and the judge, was the head of a white man. They threw the bag and its grisly occupant into the grass Later, in the city, they reported their find to police.

Sinco then the search for the human head has been constant. One local citizen found a bag near the pond. The odor was foul. He was of the opinion that the bad once contained the human head; but it had been removed.

Rotarians Accept New Constitution

LOS ANGELES, Jun eS.—"Rotarians have demonstrated to the people of LosAngeles this week that the Golden Rule can be applied with most satisfactory results to everyday business," 'Mayor George E. Cryer today told the correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor.

"The Rotary club," he continued "came to Los Angeles to transact the important business of their annual convention, and they are accomplishing everything they set out to do. But I want to say, for the benefit of Rotarians throughout the nation who are not here this week, that their delegates have done far more for Los Angeles han thy hav for themselves. They have given our people a demonstration of the fact that Christianity can be carried into every walk of business life, and that success and happiness attend those who practice itdiligently. I feel sure that every open-minded business man has received the message of Rotary."

Rotarians today were being congratulated upon their new constitution, unanimously adopted at yesterday afternoon's session. The document's vital points concern the lifting of the ban which hitherto had made impossible the formation of more than one club in cities of 1,000,-00 population or less, and the increasing of the board of directors from five to nine members.

This evening the President's ball will be held at the Ambassador hotel. This is considered the leading social event of the week.

Hugh E. Van De Walker, of Ypsilanti, Mich., will tell the convention tomorrow what Rotary is doing to help boys. This subject has developed into one of intense interest here this week.

Already 1930 Rotary Clubs have boys' work committees. "Be more than a dad; be a pal to the lad," is Rotary's motto for this work.

Armenians Have Real Boy Scouts

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 9. — When Chauncy T. Lamb, lumberman of Hinsdale, Ill., visited Constantinople recently on a Mediteranean cruise he and other members of a tourist party were met by refugee boys organized as boy scouts.

As a result, the boys won a gift which provided tents for some of the 3,500 Armenian orphans who have been formed into scout troops by relief workers.

The scouts, Lamb learned, serve as disciplinarians among the 10,000 children in Near East Relief orphanages at Constantinople. Most of them are from destroyed villages and have been gathered in by relief workers, after prolonged wandering in the hills, living upon roots and stems of vegetation.

Orphanage directors said that American boy scout principles had taught service and that as a result, all of the laundering, cooking and cleaning required by scores of orphans, were voluntarily done by the scouts themselves.

The Woman's Union Prayer meeting will be held today at 4 o'clock at Mrs. W. E. Thomas, Jefferson street.

In the past generation or so America has become the world's leading diamond customer.
